

APRIL 1, 2026 · 10:12 PM EDT

Full Moon in Libra

The Great Reckoning of the Scales

12° 21' Libra · Aries Season · Grounded Fire Full Moon Circle

Something is coming to light. The scales have been tipping for longer than you've admitted, and this full moon is not here to let you keep looking away. Use this workbook to sit with what surfaces — not to perform clarity, but to actually find it.

How to use this workbook:

Follow along during the livestream or use it on your own in the days surrounding the full moon. There are no wrong answers. If a question lands and you don't know what to write, write that. The resistance is information too.

Use your rising sign for the sign-by-sign section if you know it. Sun sign works if you don't.

The Collective Energy

What the sky is showing all of us right now

Full Moon 12° Libra

Opposite Sun in Aries

Jupiter Square Moon

Venus in Taurus (ruler)

Venus square Pluto

Mercury quincunx Moon

THE CORE TENSION

Aries says: I need to move, I need to act, I am an individual with desires and direction. Libra says: But what about us? What about fairness? What have we been building together, and is it actually working? This is the axis being lit up. Neither side is wrong. Both are necessary. The question is which one you've been ignoring.

JUPITER SQUARE — THE AMPLIFICATION FACTOR

Everything feels bigger than it might actually be. Emotions that were already running at a five are going to feel like a nine. This is real — but before you make permanent decisions, give yourself 48 hours. The intensity will settle. Then see what's still true.

VENUS IN TAURUS — THE DEEPER QUESTION

Venus rules this moon and she's at home in Taurus — slow, grounded, embodied. She's asking whether your relationships actually match your values. Not the ones you say you have. The ones you live. The ones that show up in where you put your time, your energy, your emotional capacity.

VENUS SQUARE PLUTO — THE SHADOW LAYER

Old relationship wounds, power dynamics, the ways we've given our power away in love — these are in the room. This isn't necessarily a crisis. But it is a moment of seeing clearly. And sometimes seeing clearly is uncomfortable on purpose.

Collective Patterns Under This Moon

- Relational reckoning — what has the sprint been costing you in connection?
- Fairness and equity — what exchange in your life is genuinely lopsided?
- The difference between codependency and interdependence
- Saying the true thing vs. keeping a false peace
- Seeing yourself clearly — not just through the mirror of others
- What you've been tolerating that you know you shouldn't

What This Moon Is Illuminating

Take your time. Write the honest answer, not the tidy one.

Question 01

Where in your life have you been saying "I'm fine, everything's fine" — while quietly knowing that it isn't?

Question 02

What relationship or dynamic in your life feels genuinely out of balance right now? Who is carrying more than their share, and is it you?

Question 03

Is there something you've been needing to say to someone that you've been holding back in the name of keeping the peace? What is it?

Question 04

What emotion or reaction have you been having lately that might be bigger than the situation actually warrants? What's underneath it?

Question 05

Venus in Taurus is asking: do your closest relationships match your actual values — not the ones you aspire to, but the ones you're living? What's the honest answer?

Working With This Moon

What this energy is actually asking you to do

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

This full moon is exceptional for truth-telling — not cruelty, not venting, but honest grounded communication about what's not working. The scales are already tipped. Libra doesn't want you to suppress truth in the name of keeping peace. That's the shadow version of Libra. The higher expression is being willing to have the hard conversation in service of actual balance.

Journaling

Where am I out of balance? What do I actually want from my closest relationships that I'm not saying out loud?

Release Ritual

Write down what you're releasing — a pattern, a story, an old wound, a dynamic. Burn it. Bury it. Let it be done.

The Hard Conversation

If there's something you've been needing to say, the energy right now supports it. Not from explosion — from grounded, clear, honest communication.

Receive Something Beautiful

Venus in Taurus says stop producing for a minute. Art, music, a bath, good food, time in nature. Just receive. No output required.

Shadow Check

Venus square Pluto makes this a potent time for shadow work around relationships and self-worth. What are you tolerating that you know you shouldn't? What are you avoiding seeing about yourself or someone else?

What is the one honest step this full moon is asking you to take?

Sign by Sign

Use your rising sign first. Sun sign if that's all you have.

The house tells you the area of life where this full moon is creating culmination and illumination — not just the Libra-Aries energy in general, but specifically where it's landing in your chart.

♈ARIES

7th House · Partnership

The mirror is fully lit up.

The full moon is landing directly in your house of partnership. Your key relationships — romantic, business, significant close connections — are extremely visible right now. Are you relating, or just coexisting? Something in a key relationship is asking for a real conversation. This is not the moon to keep avoiding it.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♉TAURUS

6th House · Health & Daily Life

What does balanced actually look like day to day?

Is your routine sustainable? Are you taking care of your body? With Venus in your sign, the full moon might bring a culmination around health, a work arrangement, or the quiet recognition that your daily life is out of alignment with what you actually need. Let it show you. Then adjust.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♊GEMINI

5th House · Creativity & Joy

Where has your joy gone, and did you trade it for approval?

Your house of creativity, pleasure, and self-expression is lit up. With Jupiter in your sign squaring this moon, you're feeling this one in a big way. Are you creating for the love of it, or to perform? The fifth house is about what makes you come alive — this full moon is revealing whether you're actually doing those things.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♋CANCER

4th House · Home & Roots

Is your home actually a safe place to be yourself?

Something is coming to light in your domestic world or your inner emotional landscape. Is the home inside yourself actually balanced? This moon asks how much peace you're finding versus how much you're managing and emotionally carrying for everyone around you. It's okay to put some of that down.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

Sign by Sign

Leo · Virgo · Libra · Scorpio

♌LEO

3rd House · Communication

What have you not been saying, and to whom?

Your house of communication and local connections is activated. Are you saying what you mean? A sibling dynamic or community relationship might come to a head. The Mercury-moon quincunx means what's not being said clearly is causing friction. Your flair for direct expression works well here — you don't have to be diplomatic to the point of silence.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♍VIRGO

2nd House · Worth & Resources

Are you valuing yourself as much as you value everyone else?

Your house of money, self-worth, and values is lit up. Are you being compensated fairly for what you give? Virgo tends to give a lot, serve, be useful — and quietly accept less in return. This full moon says that equation needs to be looked at. You are not less valuable than the people you're pouring into.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♎LIBRA

1st House · Identity & Self

The full moon is landing in you. What do YOU actually want?

This is personal in the most direct way possible. The full moon is in your first house — your identity, your sense of self. Who are you, separately from your relationships? Not who you are to your partner or family, but who you actually are on your own terms. You are allowed to take up space that isn't earned through giving.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♏SCORPIO

12th House · The Hidden

Something is completing in the deep dark. Let it.

The full moon is in your twelfth house — the most interior part of your chart. Old relationship patterns, subconscious beliefs, things you've buried. What surfaces tends to be things you haven't wanted to look at because looking would require changing. This moon offers an opportunity to let something old go from the inside. Quietly. Consciously. Done.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

Sign by Sign

Sagittarius · Capricorn · Aquarius · Pisces

♐ SAGITTARIUS

11th House · Community

Does your community actually hold you?

Your house of friendships and collective belonging is activated. Are those connections balanced — are you giving as much as you're receiving, or is it consistently lopsided? There might be a friendship reaching a natural conclusion, or a community connection revealing itself to be less nourishing than you thought. Jupiter squaring this moon makes the social realm loud. Filter carefully.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♑ CAPRICORN

10th House · Career & Public Life

Is your public life costing you your private self?

The most public part of your chart is lit up — career, reputation, how the world sees you. Something is being seen, completed, or revealed professionally. The axis running through your career and home houses asks a hard question: are you sacrificing your relationships and personal wellbeing at the altar of ambition? Jupiter square says the answer might be yes, and it's going to feel significant.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♒ AQUARIUS

9th House · Beliefs & Truth

Is the worldview you've been operating from still actually true?

Your house of higher truth governs your beliefs, philosophy, and spiritual framework. Libra asks you to look at where your beliefs might be oversimplified — where you're holding a point of view that felt right once but needs refining. If a big decision around travel, education, or expansion has been hovering, now weigh it honestly rather than defaulting to what's most convenient.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

♓ PISCES

8th House · Intimacy & Power

What's underneath the surface of your closest connections?

Your eighth house of intimacy, shared resources, and power dynamics is activated. Something beneath the surface of a close relationship is coming up — financial, or deeper: a power dynamic you've been pretending isn't there, or a truth about what a connection really is underneath its surface presentation. Trust the sensing first. The words will come.

YOUR REFLECTION PROMPT:

Closing Integration

What you're taking with you from this moon

Balance isn't a destination. It's an ongoing act of attention and adjustment.
Look at the scales. See which side is heavy. Make one honest correction.

Integration 01

What is the single most important thing this full moon illuminated for you – the thing you can't unknow now?

Integration 02

What relational pattern are you officially naming and releasing under this moon? Write it out completely.

Integration 03

What does the next version of your relationships look like – the version that actually reflects who you're becoming? Describe it. Be specific.

My Full Moon Commitment

One specific, honest action I'm taking in the next 48 hours. Not a big overhaul. One true step.

CONTINUE THE WORK

Join the Shadow Work Circle · Discord community · groundedfirerevolution.com